

The top panel shows a meadow. In the central panel a computer searches that meadow for pure yellows and turns them into magenta. In the bottom panel the computer turns all yellows into magenta. As you can see, all of the “green” foliage is some shade of yellow and much of it is a pure yellow.